NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW
PSYCHOLOGICAL AND HEALTH INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED
AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO IT,

PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.
YOUR PRIVACY IS IMPORTANT TO US.

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU AND YOUR PRIVACY

We understand that it is sometimes frightening to be asked to sign something that might seem only loosely understandable to you, and that is why we wanted to take a moment and explain the purpose of the new Federal HIPAA legislation and how it applies to you. HIPAA stands for the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, and it was passed because of concerns about the handling of confidential health information in an age of electronic records and rapid information sharing. We want you to understand that we take your privacy very seriously, as well as our obligation to safeguard your protected health information (PHI). It is therefore very important to us that you understand our policies and legal requirements as well as your own rights and options. With this in mind, what follows is a description of our disclosure policies, an explanation of our duties to you, as well as an account of your rights under the law.

USES AND DISCLOSURES FOR TREATMENT, PAYMENT AND HEALTH CARE OPERATIONS

We may use or disclose your protected health information (PHI), for treatment, payment, and health care purposes with your consent.

- PHI: Refers to information in your health record that could identify you.
- Treatment: We may use or disclose your health information to a physician or therapist providing treatment to you.
- Payment: We may use or disclose your health information to obtain payment for services we provide to you.
- Health Care Operations: We may use and disclose your health information in connection with our healthcare operations. Healthcare operations include quality assessment and improvement activities, business related matters such as audits and administrative services, case management and care coordination.
- Use: Refers to activities within our practice such as sharing, employing, applying, utilizing, examining, and analyzing information that identifies you.
- Disclosure: Refers to activities outside of our practice, such as releasing, transferring, or providing access to information about you to other parties.

USES AND DISCLOSURES REQUIRING AUTHORIZATION

We may use or disclose PHI for purposes outside of treatment, payment, and health care operations when your authorization is obtained. Authorization is written permission above and beyond the general consent that permits only specific disclosures. In those instances when we have requests for information for purposes outside of treatment, payment and health care operations, we will obtain authorization before releasing information. We also will obtain authorization before releasing psychotherapy notes. Psychotherapy notes are notes that are written during private, group, joint, or family counseling sessions. These notes have a greater legal protection than PHI.

As a client, you may revoke all authorizations (PHI and psychotherapy notes) at any time, provided that each revocation is in writing. You may not revoke authorization if the authorization has already been obtained and acted on or if authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage and the law provides the insurer the right to contest the claim under the policy.

USES AND DISCLOSURES WITH NEITHER CONSENT NOR AUTHORIZATION

We may use or disclose PHI without your consent or authorization in the following circumstances, as required by law:

- Child Abuse: If we have cause to believe that a child has been, or may be, abused, neglected, or sexually abused, we are required to report it within 48 hours to the proper authorities.
- Elderly or Disabled Person Abuse: If we have cause to believe that an elderly or disabled person has been, or may be abused, neglected, or exploited, we are required to report it to the Department of Protective and Regulatory Services.
- Health Oversight: If a complaint is filed against us with the State Board of Examiners of Social Work, they have the authority to subpoena confidential mental health information that is relevant to the complaint.
- Judicial or Administrative Proceedings: If you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information about your diagnosis and treatment and the records thereof, such information is privileged under state law, and I will not release information, without written authorization from you or your personal or legally appointed representative, or a court order. The privilege does not apply when you are being evaluated for a third party or where the evaluation is court-ordered. You will be informed in advance if this is the case.
- Serious Threat to Health or Safety: If we determine that there is a probability of physical injury by you to yourself or others, or that there is a probability of immediate mental or emotional injury to you, we may disclose relevant confidential mental health information to medical or law enforcement personnel.

CLIENT'S RIGHTS AND THERAPISTS' DUTIES

Client's Rights:

- Right to Request Restrictions: You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of protected health information. However, we are not required to agree to a requested restriction.
- Right to Receive Confidential Communications by Alternative Means and at Alternative Locations: You have the right to request and receive confidential communications of PHI by alternative means and at alternative locations. (For example, you may want to keep it confidential that you are seeing a therapist. Upon your written request, your bills may be sent to an alternative address).
- Right to Inspect and Copy: You have the right to inspect a copy of your PHI. Psychotherapy notes that are kept separate from PHI are protected.
- Right to Amend: You have the right to request an amendment of PHI for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. The request may be denied, but the details of the amendment process will be discussed.

RELEASE OF CONFIDENTIALITY FOR COUPLE THERAPY

As a couple, we agree to engage in couple therapy that will include both joint and individual sessions. We understand our right to confidentiality in individual sessions and are willing to waive that right so that information shared in individual sessions may be shared during joint sessions.
